

ADVANCED TRAINING PROGRAMME IN CLINICAL NURSING EDUCATION ON MENTORING 2018

Clinical education is a foundational component of nursing education. Clinical mentors, preceptors and educators play an important role in the knowledge, skills and attitudes needed to work in a wide-range of clinical specialty settings and to meet practice competencies.

The Advanced Training Programme in Clinical Nursing Education Workshop Series on Mentoring was first introduced in 2016 and successfully delivered to nurse mentors. The programme consists of both the Beginners and the Advanced Workshops. The Beginners Workshop was previously conducted in a face-to-face format consisting of 4 and 3 days in 2016 and 2017 respectively. However, starting from 2018, the Beginners Programme will be newly held online in order to enable nurses to study according to their own pace. The Advanced Workshop remains four full-day sessions.

Aims: To equip nurse mentors with advanced knowledge and skills required to deliver clinical education.

Beginners Online Programme will provide:

- theoretical underpinnings to best practices
- an opportunity to explore teaching and learning concepts
- an introduction to strategies for the implementation of summative and formative assessment
- insights into the interplay between health literacy, optimal quality and safety outcomes
- application of teaching and learning strategies in the clinical and simulated environment

Advanced Workshop will provide:

- experienced nurse mentors/preceptors with advanced knowledge and skills required to effectively deliver clinical education
- an understanding of how to apply knowledge of the research practices, methodologies and a spirit of scholarly inquiry to motivate change in educational practices while driving improvements in patient care
